

ABSTRACT

AI Information matching output attributes and/or content attributes is contained in a single data content for distribution and is divided by tags for separation during processing. The expression format is prescribed by style sheets, so that the receiving system side selectively stores style sheets matching the content attributes of the distribution content or matching the output attributes of the output apparatus.

423982_1.DOC

RECEIVED
JUN 25 2003
Technology Center 2100